Art Unit: 2627

The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

The specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 and 5-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kawamoto et al. (JP 08-221907).

Kawamoto et al. discloses a disk playback apparatus and method that reads data recorded on a disk and generates playback data. See figures 1-20. Detection means detects a predetermined synchronization pattern contained in the data and for identifying a detection timing. Selection means selectively extracts a part of data one by one out of the data read from the disk according to the detection timing identified by the detection means. Composite means composes a plurality of data extracted by the selection means so as to generate a composite data. Replacement means replaces the composite data with a corresponding demodulation data so as to generate the playback data. See abstract.

Claims 4 and 8 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Any inquiry concerning this communication should be directed to Paul Huber at telephone number 571-272-7588.
